

Translations:Biodigesteur domestique/77/en

---

In the digester, it is advised that fermentation takes place at a minimum pressure. Gas will therefore have to be evacuated along its production. Unless gas consumption is continuous and regular, it is necessary to have a storage place, supplying gas only when necessary.