

Translations:Chauffage solaire version ardoise/59/en

For housing, the most common systems on this principle are solar water heaters, often installed on the slopes of roofs to make domestic hot water supplements of conventional systems.