

Translations:Culture de pleurotes/88/en

High humidity between 95% and 100% should be provided by light and regular watering. The substrate must be placed in conditions close to fog when it arrives in the fruiting chamber. When the primordias begin to form, a gradual decrease in moisture to 90% is generally beneficial.