

Translations: Dimensionner une installation photovoltaïque autonome/135/en

We notice sizing based on winter months allow to produce enough to provide with electric needs all year long, but imply an overproduction in summer that would be useful to reuse (for example by electrolyzing water to produce hydrogen and then transform it in methane, cf scenario negawatt 2011) in particular if this type of installation was to be generalized.