

Translations:Dimensionner une installation photovoltaïque autonome/183/en

---

The charge current is calculated by dividing by 4 or 5 the nominal capacity of the battery expressed in Ah, which should then charge in 4 to 5h. However, a battery can recharge with a lower charge current, for example nominal battery capacity divided by 20, so more slowly in 20h.