

Translations:Extincteur/45/en

---

In South Africa, a conventional fire extinguisher costs around € 10. Because fires are very common, this amount can become very important for a low-income family. This low-tech fire extinguisher is mainly made from recycled materials, and products to buy are common and available for less than one euro.