

Translations:Le biofiltre/36/en

The percolate (or compost juice) collected after the composting isn't yet totally deteriorated. Adding an organic filter to the earthworm compost enable to finish preparing the different nutrients that the plants need in order to obtain an "fertilizer" usable even on an inert substrate (hydroponics) as well as bringing beneficials microorganisms to your system.