

Translations:Module de conservation/13/en

---

Evaporation creates fresh air. With a permeable material which lets water steam go, evaporation refreshes food. Faience is a kind of ceramics, permeable when it's not glazed. Among other things, it's used to do pots. This technique is called Zeer Pot and is composed of two ceramics pots, separated with humid sand.