

Translations:Savon de cendre et de graisse animale/9/en

---

A soap is normally composed of a fatty acid (here animal fat) and a basic agent (high pH) such as soda or potash (here made from ash). These two compounds create a saponification reaction that creates soap.