

Translations:Chauffe eau solaire/146/en

---

The solar thermal panels are associated with an exchanger tank which has a resistance to take over during periods with less sunlight. This ensures that the minimum temperature required to kill legionella bacteria is respected: these bacteria responsible for legionelosis stop reproducing at 55°C and die at 60°C.